ELECTION STATE AND COUNTY OFFICERS NOV. 4

FIVE AMENDMENTS TO THE STATE CONSTITUTION.

General Election Ballots Have Four Parties With Candidates Offered to the Voters.

When the voters of Texas march to the polls on next Tuesday, November 4th, they will be faced with four candidates for the office of Governor, and an opportunity to say "yes" or "no" to the five proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Despite the fact that Texas has always been a rock-ribbed Democratic state so far as state officials are concerned, four men have had their names placed on the official ballot as a candidate for the office of chief executive of the state. These men represent four political parties: Ross Sterling, Democratic; William E. Talbot, Republican; L. L. Rhodes, Socialist; and J. Stedman, Communist.

The Republican party presents a full ticket for all state offices for their supporters. The Socialist party does likewise, but those who choose the views of the Communist party have only three candidates for which to vote; for governor, United States senator and lieutenant governor.

There are no district or county candidates other than Democratic.

Voters are reminded that all names on the ticket must have a black line run through, which the voter does not choose to support. Those who will vote the Democratic ticket straight, may save time in marking their ballot by running a black line, pencil or pen, from top to bottom of the candidates listed under the heads of the other parties, Republican, Socialist and Communist.

The one feature of the election which apparently concerns Texas voters more than any other is that of the proposed constitutional amendments, rather than controversies between political parties.

The first amendment presented proposes a change in the state constitution providing that the "Supreme Court may sit at any time during the year."

The second amendment proposes that the change be made in the constitution whereby the lands of the university of Texas will be subject to taxation for county purposes, and providing for the payment of said taxes to the proper authorities of the counties where said lands are located.

The third proposed amendment changes the state constitution "fixing the terms for convening the legislature of the State of Texas." In order words extending the time during which the sessions continue from 60 to 120 days.

The fourth is for the "amendment of section 24 of article 3 of the constitution providing for an increase in the maximum per diem of members of the legislature to $10.00 per day for the first 120 days and thereafter not exceeding— (Continued on last page)

Upchurch Returns From Dallas; Next Show at Ft Worth

It is the first time that any county has been awarded first place in one year in these three major shows.

Warwick Speaking For Amendments

Clyde W. Warwick, Representative of the 123rd District, has been speaking during the past several days at various points over the Panhandle and in this district, in interest of the five constitutional amendments to be voted on at the general election on November 4. Last week he spoke before luncheon clubs in Pampa, Panhandle, Amarillo and the Canyon Rotary clubs.

This week he has been in Hereford, Tulla, Claude and Happy, and will perhaps reach other towns before next Tuesday.

Mr. Warwick has met with good response at the places where he has been during the past few days. He is a member of the Legislative Amendment Committee composed of members of the State Senate and the House of Representatives. Senator Edgar Witt of Waco, and Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor is chairman of the committee.

VOTE NEXT TUESDAY.

Tuesday, November 4th is the date for the general election in Texas. Voters are urged to take a little time off and go to the polls. This refers to citizens of all political parties.

The Republican candidate for Governor is making a campaign over the state. He is hardly mentioning politics, but is preaching the gospel of Texas development. He urges Texans to take a greater interest in the development of the state, and the resources of the state.

Ross Sterling is the Democratic candidate for Governor. It is conceded, even by Republican followers, that Sterling will be the next Governor. He has not made a speech, or issued a statement. That's the way Democrats look upon the general election—just an unnecessary wheel in the political machinery. But no candidate for office is elected until the November vote has been cast and the official count made.

Go to the polls next Tuesday. More than 840,000 Democrats voted in the primaries. It would be a fine thing to see at least 600,000 vote in the general election. It would show a great interest in the political affairs of the state.

There are five amendments to the state constitution, which are to be voted upon next Tuesday. These are not partisan questions, but something that affect the entire state.

For instance, the university of Texas will lose about a half million dollars annually interest on the permanent building fund unless the amendment is carried next Tuesday to allow this fund to be invested in Texas securities, rather than limited to U. S. government bonds. Every Texan is interested in the university of Texas. Every Texan wishes to see the university become the greatest university in the United States. Every Texan wants to see the disgraceful shack removed from the campus, but unless those interested will go and vote, this amendment may be defeated.

The other amendments are important, and will improve the state government. They were drawn with the view of making Texas government a little better, and to aid the citizens of Texas better in their public and private lives.

Every citizen owes it to his state, his political party, and to himself to study these amendments carefully, and then go and vote his honest convictions. If he finds after careful investigation that the amendments are bad, then he owes it to himself to vote against them. But on the other hand if he finds they are good, he is duty bound, as a good citizen to vote for the amendments.

The Newsman has had a most delightful experience the past ten days visiting luncheon clubs in the various towns of the Panhandle. Pampa, Panhandle, Amarillo, Hereford and Tulla have already been visited. In every town there is a feeling of optimism. Business men are not down-hearted. They point with pride to the splendid development that is taking place on the Plains. There is not a single town in which business is not good, although not so big as last year. As a man at Hereford put it: "We are thankful for the unusual business which we enjoyed last year. We did not consider it as normal when the dollars were rolling in, but were mighty glad to see them come. My business is now back to normal. It hurt a little to get back to earth, but just compare our section with others, and thank God that we live in the great Panhandle of Texas." That spirit prevails everywhere we visited. People of this section have enough to eat, and to wear. They are not suffering. They will get through the winter in fine shape. The splendid rains have put a good season in the ground, and the wheat is coming up in fine shape. The headache of 1930 will be forgotten when the crops of 1931 appear.

Mrs. T. V. Reeves and L. N. George met with the W. T. Ex-students of Deaf Smith County at Hereford, Saturday, Oct. 25th. This meeting was for the purpose of furthering the Ex-student Association and organizing Extension work in Deaf Smith County.

Ex-students who are interested in Palo Duro Canyon being made into a Park will see Clyde Warwick, editor of the Canyon News, and meet with a group of Statesmen here November 2nd. This meeting is for the purpose of studying and developing further plans for a park.

Ex-students who have not seen Palo Duro Canyon below the Light House should make this trip November 2nd.

Ex-students are indeed proud of the small part which they had in getting graduate work for W. T. Every W. T. Ex. realizes that his degree or certificate will have more prestige as a result.

Now it has been announced that Mrs. Longworth will aid Mrs. Ruth McCormick, an intimate friend, in the latter's campaign for the senatorial nomination in Illinois. The comment by a woman editor followed that Alice's aid would probably resolve itself into merely posing for the photographers, and this immediately provoked a storm.

When the Floating University Cruise Around the World sails from New York, Dec. 3, West Texas State Teachers College will be represented in its faculty. Miss Dartula Walker, head of the department of geography will sail with the University as assistant in geography.

It is the purpose of the University World Cruise to enable its students to combine the advantages of extensive supervised world travel with the education of a year at a land university. The courses are very similar to land courses. Only subjects which can be studied to advantage on the University Cruise are included in the curriculum. Courses in Art, Geography, Geology, History, Literature, Economics and Foreign Trade, Sociology, Government, International Relations, Psychology and Home Economics, Modern Languages, and Botany, are offered.

The itinerary of the fifth American Floating University is the most comprehensive ever arranged. One hundred and thirty-five ports, cities and towns, and thirty countries are visited.

The course is divided into two semesters of uneven length. The long tour sails from New York to Cuba, through the Panama Canal. A stop is then made on the western coast of Mexico and California. From there the tour proceeds to the Hawaiian Islands, Japan, North China, Island of Formosa, South China, Philippines, French Indo-China, Siam, Straits Settlements and Malay States, Pali, Java, Sumatra, Ceylon, India, and ending in Egypt.

The short semester takes in the Grand Tour of Europe beginning in Italy at Naples and continuing to the interesting places in Italy on to Southern France—particularly the Riviera, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Belgium and England.

The course will include periods of residence study in Heidelberg, Oxford, and Perugia, sight seeing drives and supervised field study. The tour ends in New York, June 7, 1931.

Miss Walker will leave Canyon about the middle of November, and will return for summer school in June.

Last year, you remember, the juvenile game was staged around the dinner tables of official Washington, in an attempt to see who should have the higher social seating, Alice Langworth, as wife of the speaker of the House, or Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, as hostess for her brother, Vice President Curtis.

"The Responsibilities of a Teacher as a Citizen," was the subject of Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State Teachers College in his address Saturday morning in the senior high school before the public school teachers of Amarillo.

Dr. Hill brought out the fact that teachers are not looked upon in the same light of citizenry as are people of other professions, due to the fact that they confine their interests too closely to the school room.

"I believe that in a matter of conduct, the teaching profession compares favorably with any other profession in the world. However, a wholesome interest in the public affairs of today contribute to our value as a teacher," Dr. Hill said.

President Hill stressed the necessity of voting in the November election which will offer five amendments to the Texas constitution.

Cold weather is motor-punishing weather... Now, more than ever, you need the extra protection of this DE-WAXED, EASY-STARTING OIL

In cold weather motors usually are hard to start, but Conoco Germ-Processed oil actually makes starting easier!

There are two good reasons for this.

First: Germ-Processed oil is thoroughly de-waxed and does not congeal at low temperatures. Second: Germ-Processed oil does not drain away during periods of motor idleness.

The initial "turning over" process is made easier by the protective lubricating film which is on duty before you touch the starter. The usual 40% to 60% of motor wear occurring during the starting period is greatly reduced. Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil gives you safe starting—and quick starting, even at zero temperatures.

Change now to this new oil. Use it all winter for motor safety and economy. You always will find Germ-Processed Motor Oil at stations bearing the Conoco Red Triangle.

BUFFS MEET TECH MATADORS IN ANNUAL HOMECOMING GAME; IS NON-CONFERENCE ENCOUNTER

GAME AND CANYON TRIP FEATUED EVENTS.

Coach Reeds' Buffaloes will welcome W. T. Exes Saturday afternoon in their annual tilt with the Matadors. To date the Buffaloes have suffered only one defeat, that being the initial game of the season when the West Texas Teachers met the Oklahoma Sooners. The Buffs came back in their next game and poured it on the Oklahoma Aggies and A. C. C. and tied Daniel Baker in last Thursday's game in the Brownwood flood.

The Matadors are rated lower this year than ever before in their football career and will present a light team for the Buffs to work on. Wayland defeated Tech in their first game of the season, 6-0, but Tech managed to eke out a hard earned victory over the N. M. Aggies. Saturday the Matadors met the T. C. U. team and were defeated 27-0 by T. C. U.'s reserves, Leland, the Christian flash, only playing five minutes of the game and accounting for one of the touchdowns.

Though the relative strength of the two teams cannot be gauged on paper by percentages because neither team has played with teams who have met the other, from a comparison of the strength of their plays it is apparent that the Buffs are scheduled to win. Despite all paper predictions the Lubbock aggregation will come to Canyon with blood in their eyes and malice in their hearts and will, beyond all doubts give the Buffs a battle, and the visiting exes are assured of the fact that they will get full value received for the price of admission to the Buff-Matador game next Saturday.

In picking out their subjects this year, expect the young collegians to favor the miniature courses.

Waiting for something to turn up is the hardest way to loaf.

BUFFALOES TIE DANIEL BAKER GRIDSTERS 0-0

MUD INTERFERES BADLY WITH WORK OF BOTH TEAMS IN BROWNWOOD.

In a long drawn out contest in which time out had to be called between each play for the purpose of wiping the mud off the ball and digging the players out of the hog wallows, the Buffaloes battled the Hill Billies to a nothing-nothing tie last Thursday night at Brownwood.

The game was played in a sea of mud and water. Though the Billy Goats got within scoring distance of the Buffaloes several times, the passer always fumbled the ball or some Buffalo was fortunate enough to plow the mud up to the line and stop him. Powell played his usual stellar game but was unable to overcome the handicap of mud. Brotherton in the backfield showed up exceptionally well and McClendon played a wonderful game at center, especially on defence.

The line held and that was the secret of the lack of points for the Hill Billies, for their passing attack was the thing that showed up most in the game. The Bakerites made numerous substitutions and kept a constant stream of dry players going into the game. The Hill Billy line outweighed the Buffs 13 pounds and showed its effect in that muddy field. The backfield was about on the same average as that of the Buffs and the Hill Billy offense was built solely around their passing program which failed in its final objective.

JUST one complaint—those dragging feet—yet they tell a big story. Back at the fountain-head the red-blood-cells are not up to standard. When your red-blood-cells are only 80% you are NOT yourself—60% is dangerous. You haven't the vitality to fight infection and disease.

Children's Theater Prestents Second Play of Season

Second of the Children's Theater season programs for this year, "Rackety-Packety House" was presented in the Education building auditorium, Thursday afternoon at 3:45 by members of the College Dramatic Club.

C. W. Batchelder, sponsor and director of the Children's Theater in W. T. made the adaptation of the play given. Student directors were Gordon Beck and Nell Walters, speech arts majors. Howard Batchelder acted as stage manager for the production.

"Rackety-Packety House" as presented Thursday is very typical of the work of the Children's Theater. It is the story of a little girl, Cynthia, and the dolls in her two dolls' houses, Rackety-Packety house and Tidy Castle. Cynthia, being thoroughly modern, is very partial to the new and beautiful dolls in the new and beautiful Tidy Castle as compared with the old, worn out, ragged dolls in the old, worn out, ragged Rackety-Packety House and wants to discard the latter along with her old nurse and other vestiges of the Victorian age of her mother and grandmother. As dramatized by Mr. Batchelder, the story has become an appealing fantasy of dolls that come to life under the spell of the Fairy Queen Crosspatch and her helpers, and in three fascinating scenes show their selfish young mistress that they are more than just bisque, and cloth, and saw-dust stuffing.

The cast of the play Thursday was composed entirely of girls, though several played male roles. The parts were cast as follows: Cynthia, Beth Pitts; a Princess, Willa Sparkman; Queen Crosspatch, Juanita White; Old Nurse, Louise Holgate; New Nurse, Grace

Stephenson; Four Fairy helpers, Ruth Chatham, Mittie Thomas, Loretta Rainey, O'Neal Porter; Dolls: Peter Piper, Vada Koger; Gustibus, Lonie Beth Weaver; Meg, Mary Jo Gates; Peg, Edna Baer; Killamanskegg, Farris Sears; Riddle, Ruth Brigrance; Dutchess, Lorine Robbins; Lady Patsy, Mary Alice Weaver; James, the butler, Mildred Dodds.

According to the head of the speech arts department, Miss Brown, the group acting and the setting of the scenes were exceptionally good. The many children attending showed their interest and appreciation at Thursdays' performance by strict attention.

The next Children's Theater number to be given Nov. 6, is a play by the children of the W. T. Training school.

If you're not good the devil may get you when you die, but if you are good the tariff gougiers will have you for life.

BUFFS MEET TECH MATADORS IN ANNUAL HOMECOMING GAME; IS NON-CONFERENCE ENCOUNTER

GAME AND CANYON TRIP FEATUED EVENTS.

Coach Reeds' Buffaloes will welcome W. T. Exes Saturday afternoon in their annual tilt with the Matadors. To date the Buffaloes have suffered only one defeat, that being the initial game of the season when the West Texas Teachers met the Oklahoma Sooners. The Buffs came back in their next game and poured it on the Oklahoma Aggies and A. C. C. and tied Daniel Baker in last Thursday's game in the Brownwood flood.

The Matadors are rated lower this year than ever before in their football career and will present a light team for the Buffs to work on. Wayland defeated Tech in their first game of the season, 6-0, but Tech managed to eke out a hard earned victory over the N. M. Aggies. Saturday the Matadors met the T. C. U. team and were defeated 27-0 by T. C. U.'s reserves, Leland, the Christian flash, only playing five minutes of the game and accounting for one of the touchdowns.

Though the relative strength of the two teams cannot be gauged on paper by percentages because neither team has played with teams who have met the other, from a comparison of the strength of their plays it is apparent that the Buffs are scheduled to win. Despite all paper predictions the Lubbock aggregation will come to Canyon with blood in their eyes and malice in their hearts and will, beyond all doubts give the Buffs a battle, and the visiting exes are assured of the fact that they will get full value received for the price of admission to the Buff-Matador game next Saturday.

In picking out their subjects this year, expect the young collegians to favor the miniature courses.

Waiting for something to turn up is the hardest way to loaf.

BUFFALOES TIE DANIEL BAKER GRIDSTERS 0-0

MUD INTERFERES BADLY WITH WORK OF BOTH TEAMS IN BROWNWOOD.

In a long drawn out contest in which time out had to be called between each play for the purpose of wiping the mud off the ball and digging the players out of the hog wallows, the Buffaloes battled the Hill Billies to a nothing-nothing tie last Thursday night at Brownwood.

The game was played in a sea of mud and water. Though the Billy Goats got within scoring distance of the Buffaloes several times, the passer always fumbled the ball or some Buffalo was fortunate enough to plow the mud up to the line and stop him. Powell played his usual stellar game but was unable to overcome the handicap of mud. Brotherton in the backfield showed up exceptionally well and McClendon played a wonderful game at center, especially on defense.

The line held and that was the secret of the lack of points for the Hill Billies, for their passing attack was the thing that showed up most in the game. The Bakerites made numerous substitutions and kept a constant stream of dry players going into the game. The Hill Billy line outweighed the Buffs 13 pounds and showed its effect in that muddy field. The backfield was about on the same average as that of the Buffs and the Hill Billy offense was built solely around their passing program which failed in its final objective.

MRS. McCARTER SERVES ON COMMITTEE OF WELCOME

Mrs. T. B. McCarter was asked this week to serve on a state committee of welcome for Texas to George Russell, Irish poet and economist, whose book "The National Being" has been translated into almost every language.

Mr. Russell played the leading part with Sir Horace Plunkett in the organization of the Irish Cooperative movement which put Ireland back on her feet agriculturally. As Editor of the Irish Statesman, he exercised a formative influence over the revival of Irish National life. Having played such a prominent part in the national affairs of Ireland, he, no doubt, will be an interesting lecturer, and it is to be hoped that he can be secured for a speaking date in Canyon.

HALLOWEEN PARTY AT O. N. GAMBLE HOME

The Halloween season furnished the predominating note in the decorative theme at the Oscar Gamble home when Mrs. Gamble, Mrs. J. M. Redfearn and Mrs. S. L. HALLOWEEN PARTY AT FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Monday evening at 7:30 a Halloween party was held in the basement of the new First Christian Church building. A large crowd attended and the program was in charge of the Christian Endeavorers.

Everyone was requested to go to the balcony and from there they were led blindfolded down the winding stairway into the basement where they found witches, fortune-tellers, and other strange people in the various rooms.

After everyone had gathered, they assembled in the large banquet room. Various games formed the diversion for the evening. Miss Dorothy Harris gave some delightful readings.

The basement was decorated in black and orange. Black cats and witches were seen hanging on the walls. Each one wore unique costumes and the Halloween spirit was carried throughout the program. At the end of the program pumpkin pie and hot chocolate were served.

REDMEN ENTERTAIN ON TUESDAY EVENING

The Loyal Order of Redmen entertained their friends with a delightful affair at the Teepee Tuesday evening. Bridge was the chosen diversion and twelve tables were placed for the games in the entertaining rooms. The Halloween motif was developed in the table accessories.

A delicious refreshment course was served at the conclusion of the play.

Hawks arose in the morning, ate breakfast, climbed into his airplane in New York City, and arrived in Los Angeles in time to see the sun set on the Pacific. Just a day's journey as the crow—or rather, the modern birdman—flies.

Once upon a time it would have taken tortuous months to have made such a trip. Spring would have ended and summer and fall would have been gone before the caravans could have battled their way across the plains, through the mountains and into the western land.

We who fly so high and fast today forget the immensity of our nation. We also forget the years of weary toil which were necessary to make the wilderness burst into the colored flowers which are everywhere today. We somehow have the opinion that all we need to do is wave a wand and things will happen.

Other lands, where centuries have passed while life worked its way toward a faroff fulfillment, envy us our strength. America looks toward the future, raises her head to clear, bright skies, while they look down the long lanes of memory.

Europe is proud of things that she has done. She has made a painted story-book of her past which she will open for you, page by page, as you wander through her cities.

America has the long, long ahead. And the upward look, for much of her recent progress concerns the air trails.

Once upon a time a wise man remarked that old men should dream dreams and young men should see visions. We are fulfilling the latter part of that prophecy.

It isn't so important whether Captain Hawks beats Lindbergh's record for transcontinental speed. It is the winged spirit of progress that makes America not satisfied to rest on past accomplishments, the winged courage which sends her out again and again, that counts.

When the first covered wagon went slowly through the green cathedral of the forest, eyes out for lurking animals and Indians, the coast to coast journey seemed like a far trip from which there could be no returning. But other wagons came. Then trains followed. Automobiles roads were built. Now the ships sail the skies in 15 hours.

The more we try anything, the easier it becomes.

The lands of the eastern world have given up. The western world is just beginning.

What this country needs is a good five-ent ice cream cone with an eaves-trough around the rim.

A KING'S CODE

Lots of editors and other folks as well have viewed with mild and good-natured criticism the personal code of King George of England which has recently been made public and which is said to be framed on the wall of his bedroom. The gist of the criticism seems to be that it is too platitudinous for a sophisticated age.

As you may have forgotten the King's code or may have overlooked it in the daily news, we reprint it here:

"Teach me to be obedient to the rules of the game."

"Teach me to distinguish between sentiment and sentimentality, admiring the one and despising the other."

"Teach me neither to proffer nor to receive cheap praise."

"If I am called upon to suffer, let me be like a well-bred beast that goes away to suffer in silence."

"Teach me to win; if I may lose, teach me to be a good loser."

"Teach me neither to cry for the moon nor to cry over spilled milk."

Perhaps the critics are right; perhaps this code does sound somewhat flat and school-boyish; perhaps it is not in keeping with a sophisticated age.

But you can't deny that if you attempted to follow the King's code closely it would be a difficult feat and, moreover, if you succeeded in following the code, it would make a better man of you.

UNCLE SAM'S CAMELS

Probably few persons know that once the United States Army employed camels as a means of transportation in the southwest.

With a view to overcoming the difficulties of traversing the great American desert before there were any transcontinental railroads or highways, 75 camels were brought from Egypt and Asia Minor in 1856 by the War Department, while Jefferson Davis was Secretary of War.

A part of the Army's Camel herd, with their native Egyptian drivers, were stationed at old Camp Verde in Kerr County when that station was an important military outpost.

The camel performed satisfactorily but the Army "mule-skinner," did not like the beasts, besides they frightened the Army horses and mules into a stampede on slight provocation. Before the experiment had progressed very far the Civil War broke out and the project was abandoned, some of the animals being sold to circuses while others were turned loose. Some of these, grown wild, were seen in Arizona as late of 1909, and some believe that a herd still exists in the uninhabited wastes of that region.

Finding of their bones may give rise to erroneous conclusions on the part of paleontologists of future ages.

Ah, revenge is sweet! After two long years we have Hereford where we want them. But that has been talked of until it's stale, so I had better talk about something else. Duck hunting will be my subject for today's short sermon. Duck hunting, man's most noble pastime. To lay in a dark, damp hole, commonly called a pit, for two or three hours to get a shot at a poor defenseless duck. Then Mr. Duck comes flying over and alights on the water. You put your trusty old gat to your shoulder and fire. Results: a few scattered feathers and a sore shoulder but who minds that when, after using two or three boxes of shells at one dollar and twenty-five cents a box, we can carry home some good old duck meat, fit for duck hash or duck soup when you pick the lead out of it. Who cares for the cost and for a cold in the head if they can reap rewards like these. But just see how many guys go out duck hunting next Saturday. Nay, not I.

Sternenberg Is Elected Queen of Eagle Squad

The old tradition of having a football queen again was resumed this year in order that the treasury of the Athletic Association Fund might be increased. The announcement to that effect was made in the class meetings Tuesday afternoon. Each class resolved then and there to have their candidate crowned queen. A class convention was held by each class and the seniors nominated Bettye Sternenberg; the juniors nominated Celestine McGee; while the sophomores and freshmen nominated Marie Landress and Mary Dowlen, respectively.

From Wednesday until 6 o'clock Thursday, freshmen and sophomores, juniors and seniors, worked in a mad rush to support their candidates. Each class "swamped" the tailors with coat hangers, since each coat hanger meant a vote. The seniors sold lard buckets until the meat markets refused to buy another one. However, the sophomores had the best idea for getting money. They sold "Beat Hereford" tags.

Each class wore a smile of satisfaction until the deciding hour came. At 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon each class turned in all of their money and the doors were shut on the counting room. While Mrs. Brady, Miss Rusk and Mr. Carruth counted the money, much singing and shouting was carried on. Finally, after what seemed hours to the waiting mob, Mr. Carruth threw open the door and announced that the seniors were victorious with the sum of $48.45. The juniors were a close second with $39.50; next in line came the $29.50 of the sophomores, while last came the total of $11.75 for the freshmen.

Have you ever seen cattle stampede? Well, this is similar to what took place when Mr. Carruth announced the winner! The freshmen, sophomores, and juniors certainly did look crestfallen, but they took it like the good sports they really are.

The unemployed in this country are not so badly off, after all. In Bavaria, we read, the jobless are paid dole in the form of limburger cheese.

You will notice that the man in the family who foots the bills is always obliged to toe the mark.

Seniors Attend to Business for Fiscal Year

Much business has been attended to by the senior class recently. Among the things are:

The invitations have been decided on and will be ordered soon. The class rings will be ordered this week. The class is very anxious to receive their rings, as they do not feel like real seniors until they are wearing their brand.

The motto of the senior class has been decided upon. It is "Love, labor, and laugh." Does this motto not prove to you what their real object this year is?

The social calendar for the year was presented by the calendar committee at a recent class meeting. The next entertainment of the year was decided to be a picnic.

The gift of the school is being thought of seriously. A committee was appointed at the first of the year to work on the gift. Reports have been made and suggestions discussed at several recent meetings.

TAYLOR WINS ELECTION

Wilford Taylor, Jr., candidate of the junior class for president of the Student Council, was victorious over Irving Gamewell, the senior candidate by a vote of 109 to 99.

This election, held October 21, was the run-off of the tied election held October 17.

The motto of the student body is "All for Buddie." They have a great deal of confidence in this "Little Football Hero" and they are sure that he will fill the position adequately.

GRADE NEWS

The Seven A Class was delightfully entertained by a party in the Grade School Gym last Saturday night. The party was the prize given to the winner of the Curtis Publishing Company's contest between the sections of the seventh grade.

The evening passed all too soon since so many interesting games were played. The destinies of various members of the class were found out by visiting the renowned fortune teller, Madame Lois Goodrich.

Delicious refreshments of pink and white Dixie cups were served by the hosts, Mr. Carruth, Mrs. Landers and Mrs. C. E. Strain. After some peppy yells the Seven A Class went home pronouncing the party a success.

Balfour Plaque

By Nan Johnson
Every year a Balfour key is awarded to the senior in high school having the highest number of points in scholarship, loyalty, and achievement. In addition to the key that senior receives the honor of having his or her name engraved on the Balfour Plaque.

To declare the rate of points for scholarship the semester grades for the entire high school course with the exception of the last semester, are averaged and multiplied by four tenths as scholarship may count only forty points.

The five divisions under loyalty: attitude toward regular school work, co-operation, willingness to help with school activities, avoidance of unnecessary absence, and attendance at school affairs count eight points each, making a total of forty points for loyalty.

Athletics, debate, dramatics, music, inter-society, offices, school paper and honors are valued at five points each, totaling for achievement forty points also.

In order to decide fairly which senior shall receive the honor the following plan is used:

Each year, in the last week of April, each of the three class officers of the junior, sophomore, and freshman classes and every member of the faculty shall nominate in writing two seniors for the Balfour Plaque honor. Then the first week in May the same teachers and officers shall meet and rate the seniors nominated by the method stated above. The senior having the highest total of points in the three divisions shall have his name engraved on the Balfour Plaque Honor.

SPANISH CLUB MEETS

The first meeting of El Circulo Castellano was held Wednesday, at the regular activity period. The house was called to order and the roll called. The following officers were elected: President, Marie Tanner; vice president, George Brasuel, secretary-treasurer, Anne Johnson. A program and a motto committee were elected. They plan to have many enjoyable as well as profitable programs throughout the entire year.

In Turkey the parties are divided as to the type headgear the nation should adopt. When the political season begins there they mean it when they say, "the lid is off."

Seniors Celebrate Sternenberg Win by Moon Picnic

In celebration of their victory in the Football Queen Contest, the seniors thoroughly enjoyed a picnic last Friday night at the Six-Mile crossing. At about five-thirty o'clock the seniors started gathering at the high school. It was about six thirty before all were ready to start.

By the time the group arrived and a bon fire was built, they were ready to eat. The usual picnic lunch was readily consumed.

Various games were enjoyed for awhile; then, as it was rather cool, everyone gathered around the fire. Jokes and ghost stories were the entertainment for awhile. From then until the group was ready to leave songs were sung. Every song that could possibly be thought of was sung.

ELECTION OF HOUSTON

Ninety-four years ago, on October 22, the first President of Texas was elected. Sam Houston, an American soldier and political leader, was he.

While visiting in Texas in December, 1832, Houston was invited to settle there and become a leader of the Texans in their struggle to achieve independence from Mexico. Up to this time he had won fame for his legislation in behalf of the Cherokee Indians while a member of Congress. He had also served a term of governor of Tennessee.

Accepting the Texas invitation, Houston was elected a delegate to the convention in which it was sought to frame a constitution. With the rejection of the constitution by the Mexicans, and the attempt to disarm the Texans open warfare began.

Houston was chosen commander in chief of the Texas army. At the head of a small, undrilled force of volunteers he annihilated the Mexican army at one blow at San Jacinto, and won the independence of Texas. Shortly after his victory he was elected president of Texas.

Eagles Win for First Time in Three Seasons

Flying low and fast, the Canyon Eagles defeated their old antagonists, the Hereford Whitefaces, in a well played, hard fought game last Friday at the Buffalo Stadium by the close score of 6-0.

For the first time this year the Eagles failed to make the extra point.

In the fourth quarter the Whitefaces rallied and came twice within scoring distance and lost the ball. Strain immediately kicked the ball back to the middle of the field.

Strain, Eagle quarter, called a very good game and also did some good line plunging. Tucker's speed aided the Eagles greatly. While Wooten's side-steppy punt returning practically won the game for Canyon.

Russell, Hereford's quarter, pulled some fast left end runs. Stone, of Hereford, rived Strain of Canyon in line plunging.

The lines of both teams played good football.

Hereford gained a total yardage of 239 while Canyon made only 176. Most of Hereford's yards were made in the fourth quarter when the Eagles were purely on the defensive.

Ah, revenge is sweet! After two long years we have Hereford where we want them. But that has been talked of until it's stale, so I had better talk about something else. Duck hunting will be my subject for today's short sermon. Duck hunting, man's most noble pastime. To lay in a dark, damp hole, commonly called a pit, for two or three hours to get a shot at a poor defenseless duck. Then Mr. Duck comes flying over and alights on the water. You put your trusty old gat to your shoulder and fire. Results: a few scattered feathers and a sore shoulder, but who minds that when, after using two or three boxes of shells at one dollar and twenty-five cents a box, we can carry home some good old duck meat, fit for duck hash, or duck soup when you pick the lead out of it. Who cares for the cost and for a cold in the head if they can reap rewards like these. But just see how many guys go out duck hunting next Saturday. Nay, not I.

Sternenberg Is Elected Queen of Eagle Squad

The old tradition of having a football queen again was resumed this year in order that the treasury of the Athletic Association Fund might be increased. The announcement to that effect was made in the class meetings Tuesday afternoon. Each class resolved then and there to have their candidate crowned queen. A class convention was held by each class and the seniors nominated Bettye Sternenberg; the juniors nominated Celestine McGee; while the sophomores and freshmen nominated Marie Landress and Mary Dowlen, respectively.

From Wednesday until 6 o'clock Thursday, freshmen and sophomores, juniors and seniors, worked in a mad rush to support their candidates. Each class "swamped" the tailors with coat hangers, since each coat hanger meant a vote. The seniors sold lard buckets until the meat markets refused to buy another one. However, the sophomores had the best idea for getting money. They sold "Beat Hereford" tags.

Each class wore a smile of satisfaction until the deciding hour came. At 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon each class turned in all of their money and the doors were shut on the counting room. While Mrs. Brady, Miss Rusk and Mr. Carruth counted the money, much singing and shouting was carried on. Finally, after what seemed hours to the waiting mob, Mr. Carruth threw open the door and announced that the seniors were victorious with the sum of $48.45. The juniors were a close second with $39.50; next in line came the $29.50 of the sophomores, while last came the total of $11.75 for the freshmen.

Have you ever seen cattle stampede? Well, this is similar to what took place when Mr. Carruth announced the winner! The freshmen, sophomores, and juniors certainly did look crestfallen, but they took it like the good sports they really are.

The unemployed in this country are not so badly off, after all. In Bavaria, we read, the jobless are paid dole in the form of limburger cheese.

You will notice that the man in the family who foots the bills is always obliged to toe the mark.

Home is often a place where a man goes after his day's work to take up his listening where he left off in the morning.

Seniors Attend to Business for Fiscal Year

Much business has been attended to by the senior class recently. Among the things are:

The invitations have been decided on and will be ordered soon.

The class rings will be ordered this week. The class is very anxious to receive their rings, as they do not feel like real seniors until they are wearing their brand.

The motto of the senior class has been decided upon. It is "Love, labor, and laugh." Does this motto not prove to you what their real object this year is?

The social calendar for the year was presented by the calendar committee at a recent class meeting. The next entertainment of the year was decided to be a picnic.

The gift of the school is being thought of seriously. A committee was appointed at the first of the year to work on the gift. Reports have been made and suggestions discussed at several recent meetings.

TAYLOR WINS ELECTION

Wilford Taylor, Jr., candidate of the junior class for president of the Student Council, was victorious over Irving Gamewell, the senior candidate by a vote of 109 to 99.

This election, held October 21, was the run-off of the tied election held October 17.

The motto of the student body is "All for Buddie." They have a great deal of confidence in this "Little Football Hero" and they are sure that he will fill the position adequately.

GRADE NEWS

The Seven A Class was delightfully entertained by a party in the Grade School Gym last Saturday night. The party was the prize given to the winner of the Curtis Publishing Company's contest between the sections of the seventh grade.

The evening passed all too soon since so many interesting games were played. The destinies of various members of the class were found out by visiting the renowned fortune teller, Madame Lois Goodrich.

Delicious refreshments of pink and white Dixie cups were served by the hosts, Mr. Carruth, Mrs. Landers and Mrs. C. E. Strain. After some peppy yells the Seven A Class went home pronouncing the party a success.

EAGLES TIE SAM HOUSTON

The Canyon Eagles tied Sam Houston Junior High last Saturday, October 25.

These two teams played once before and the score was the same.

Balfour Plaque

By Nan Johnson
Every year a Balfour key is awarded to the senior in high school having the highest number of points in scholarship, loyalty, and achievement. In addition to the key that senior receives the honor of having his or her name engraved on the Balfour Plaque.

To declare the rate of points for scholarship the semester grades for the entire high school course with the exception of the last semester, are averaged and multiplied by four tenths as scholarship may count only forty points.

The five divisions under loyalty: attitude toward regular school work, co-operation, willingness to help with school activities, avoidance of unnecessary absence, and attendance at school affairs count eight points each, making a total of forty points for loyalty.

Athletics, debate, dramatics, music, inter-society, offices, school paper and honors are valued at five points each, totaling for achievement forty points also.

In order to decide fairly which senior shall receive the honor the following plan is used:

Each year, in the last week of April, each of the three class officers of the junior, sophomore, and freshman classes and every member of the faculty shall nominate in writing two seniors for the Balfour Plaque honor. Then the first week in May the same teachers and officers shall meet and rate the seniors nominated by the method stated above. The senior having the highest total of points in the three divisions shall have his name engraved on the Balfour Plaque Honor.

SPANISH CLUB MEETS

The first meeting of El Circulo Castellano was held Wednesday, at the regular activity period. The house was called to order and the roll called. The following officers were elected: President, Marie Tanner; vice president, George Brasuel, secretary-treasurer, Anne Johnson. A program and a motto committee were elected. They plan to have many enjoyable as well as profitable programs throughout the entire year.

In Turkey the parties are divided as to the type headgear the nation should adopt. When the political season begins there they mean it when they say, "the lid is off."

Seniors Celebrate Sternenberg Win by Moon Picnic

In celebration of their victory in the Football Queen Contest, the seniors thoroughly enjoyed a picnic last Friday night at the Six-Mile crossing. At about five-thirty o'clock the seniors started gathering at the high school. It was about six thirty before all were ready to start.

By the time the group arrived and a bon fire was built, they were ready to eat. The usual picnic lunch was readily consumed.

Various games were enjoyed for awhile; then, as it was rather cool, everyone gathered around the fire. Jokes and ghost stories were the entertainment for awhile. From then until the group was ready to leave songs were sung. Every song that could possibly be thought of was sung.

ELECTION OF HOUSTON

Ninety-four years ago, on October 22, the first President of Texas was elected. Sam Houston, an American soldier and political leader, was he.

While visiting in Texas in December, 1832, Houston was invited to settle there and become a leader of the Texans in their struggle to achieve independence from Mexico. Up to this time he had won fame for his legislation in behalf of the Cherokee Indians while a member of Congress. He had also served a term of governor of Tennessee.

Accepting the Texas invitation, Houston was elected a delegate to the convention in which it was sought to frame a constitution. With the rejection of the constitution by the Mexicans, and the attempt to disarm the Texans open warfare begun.

Houston was chosen commander in chief of the Texas army. At the head of a small, undrilled force of volunteers he annihilated the Mexican army at one blow at San Jacinto, and won the independence of Texas. Shortly after his victory he was elected president of Texas.

Eagles Win for First Time in Three Seasons

Flying low and fast, the Canyon Eagles defeated their old antagonists, the Hereford Whitefaces, in a well played, hard fought game last Friday at the Buffalo Stadium by the close score of 6-0.

For the first time this year the Eagles failed to make the extra point.

In the fourth quarter the Whitefaces rallied and came twice within scoring distance and lost the ball. Strain immediately kicked the ball back to the middle of the field.

Strain, Eagle quarter, called a very good game and also did some good line plunging. Tucker's speed aided the Eagles greatly. While Wooten's side-steppy punt returning practically won the game for Canyon.

Russell, Hereford's quarter, pulled some fast left end runs. Stone, of Hereford rivaled Strain of Canyon in line plunging.

The lines of both teams played good football.

Hereford gained a total yardage of 239 while Canyon made only 176. Most of Hereford's yards were made in the fourth quarter when the Eagles were purely on the defensive.

The herd attempted 11 aerial shots and completed 4 of them. The Eagles completed 2 out of 5.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

During the past year two members of the local church have died, Mr. David Thomas and Miss Opal Coley; Boyce Bandy, a College alumnus also passed away. These, with others, will be especially remembered in this service.

The church will be open all Sunday afternoon, and anyone wishing to remember a loved one is asked to bring to the church one flower. These floral offerings will be placed upon the altar during the service Sunday night, and all names of persons so remembered will be read and included in the memorial hour. The following day the flowers will be taken by Rev. E. E. Madeira to the hospital at Plainview and distributed among the sick and shut-ins.

THE WAY THINGS HAPPEN

By Bruce Catton

From literature, we are told, we learn about life.

This, doubtless, is very true. But it occurs to one who has just finished reading a great many current detective stories that literature can give one some queer, though interesting idea.

Here, for instance, are some of the facts about life that stand out after digestion of the country's most popular mystery novels.

The library of a rich man's home is one of the most dangerous places in the world. This is especially true of English homes. For some reason, the overwhelming majority of all murders take place in libraries. Rich men without number have been knocked off while sitting placidly among their books. Usually they have been given no warning of their fate; but there are cases on record in which they not only knew that they were in danger, but actually locked all the doors and windows—without avail, the library, obviously, is a place to stay out of.

Butlers, it is comforting to learn, are practically never given to homicidal impulses. The writer can recall no case in which a butler murdered his employers, or anyone else. To be sure, butlers act very suspiciously, at times, and not infrequently are up to shady practices; but they never stoop or rise, to murder. The same applies with almost equal force to other servants. One recent book tells of a gardener who committed a singularly brutal murder, but this rascal seems to have been a rare exception.

It is regrettable to discover that doctors do not seem as reliable. In all too many cases, judging by current literature, the trusted physician turns out to be a malignant rogue. Even where he does not, it often happens that he acts in a most peculiar manner when a crime has been committed.

The daughters of such rich men as are slain in their libraries are nearly always quite innocent. This is comforting, since it quite often happens that these girls had strong financial or personal reasons for killing their fathers. Present-day detective fiction proves rather conclusively that the daughter is almost never guilty—although, it must be said, things often look a bit black for her.

The same applies, with not quite so much force, to the sons of murdered men. The sons, however, usually turn out to be sorry wastrels, capable of sin if not of crime, and suspicion is often quite logically directed against them.

These are the outstanding discoveries made by an assiduous reader. There are interesting minor facts—poor men, for example, almost never get murdered, and the goofier a detective acts the more sure he is to be a mental giant—but there is no space here to go into them at any length. It is all very absorbing. How much one can learn about life from literature!

All the civic organizations in the world will not build a city when the citizens fail to patronize their home merchants. The very fact that the local business man invests his money in a business institution of our city, proves that he is loyal and wants to help the town, and why shouldn't you be just as loyal to his business. Your local merchant pays the taxes, contributes to our schools, churches and all charitable institutions and when a citizen spends his money away from home he proves that he is not the loyal citizen he should be to his home town.—Exchange.

weigh carefully these facts about home heating

How shall your home be heated this winter? The question rests with you, but before you make your final decision, we desire to present the facts about GAS for home heating. Suppose you draw up a chair, sharpen up a pencil and list these features with the idea of comparing GAS with other fuels.

First of all, Gas Home Heating is completely automatic. No fire to build or look after. (Sleep thirty minutes longer every morning!) (Go up to bed when you're tired, not down to the basement to bank up the fire!) The only effort required is the weekly winding of a thermostat-clock placed conveniently in your living room. And of course, there's no ashes to lug away; no smoke, soot or dust. No cleaning or redecorating.

Then too, you pay for Gas after you burn it. No money tied up. Not even a fuel bin. A tidy basement instead, with a playroom or gym for winter recreation. Best of all, your home is never overheated or underheated—temperatures remain constant even on the coldest days. GAS costs more, naturally—but it's only a moderately additional cost, and with everything considered, is often cheaper. Let us give you an accurate estimate to prove it. No cost or obligation. Since the Canyon church has a non-resident rector who cannot be here on Saturday, this service will be held on Sunday, Nov. 2nd at 7:30 p. m. During the past year two members of the local church have died, Mr. David Thomas and Miss Opal Coley; Boyce Bandy, a College alumnus also passed away. These, with others, will be especially remembered in this service.

The church will be open all Sunday afternoon, and anyone wishing to remember a loved one is asked to bring to the church one flower. These floral offerings will be placed upon the altar during the service Sunday night, and all names of persons so remembered will be read and included in the memorial hour. The following day the flowers will be taken by Rev. E. E. Madeira to the hospital at Plainview and distributed among the sick and shut-ins.

Special music will be rendered and all interested are invited to come and participate in the service.

THE WAY THINGS HAPPEN

By Bruce Catton

From literature, we are told, we learn about life.

This, doubtless, is very true. But it occurs to one who has just finished reading a great many current detective stories that literature can give one some queer, though interesting idea.

Here, for instance, are some of the facts about life that stand out after digestion of the country's most popular mystery novels.

The library of a rich man's home is one of the most dangerous places in the world. This is especially true of English homes. For some reason, the overwhelming majority of all murders take place in libraries. Rich men without number have been knocked off while sitting placidly among their books. Usually they have been given no warning of their fate; but there are cases on record in which they not only knew that they were in danger, but actually locked all the doors and windows—without avail, the library, obviously, is a place to stay out of.

Butlers, it is comforting to learn, are practically never given to homicidal impulses. The writer can recall no case in which a butler murdered his employers, or anyone else. To be sure, butlers act very suspiciously, at times, and not infrequently are up to shady practices; but they never stoop or rise, to murder. The same applies with almost equal force to other servants. One recent book tells of a gardener who committed a singularly brutal murder, but this rascal seems to have been a rare exception.

It is regrettable to discover that doctors do not seem as reliable. In all too many cases, judging by current literature, the trusted physician turns out to be a malignant rogue. Even where he does not, it often happens that he acts in a most peculiar manner when a crime has been committed.

The daughters of such rich men as are slain in their libraries are nearly always quite innocent. This is comforting, since it quite often happens that these girls had strong financial or personal reasons for killing their fathers. Present-day detective fiction proves rather conclusively that the daughter is almost never guilty—although, it must be said, things often look a bit black for her.

The same applies, with not quite so much force, to the sons of murdered men. The sons, however, usually turn out to be sorry wastrels, capable of sin if not of crime, and suspicion is often quite logically directed against them.

These are the outstanding discoveries made by an assiduous reader. There are interesting minor facts—poor men, for example, almost never get murdered, and the goofier a detective acts the more sure he is to be a mental giant—but there is no space here to go into them at any length. It is all very absorbing. How much one can learn about life from literature!

All the civic organizations in the world will not build a city when the citizens fail to patronize their home merchants. The very fact that the local business man invests his money in a business institution of our city, proves that he is loyal and wants to help the town, and why shouldn't you be just as loyal to his business. Your local merchant pays the taxes, contributes to our schools, churches and all charitable institutions and when a citizen spends his money away from home he proves that he is not the loyal citizen he should be to his home town.—Exchange.

How shall your home be heated this winter? The question rests with you, but before you make your final decision, we desire to present the facts about GAS for home heating. Suppose you draw up a chair, sharpen up a pencil and list these features with the idea of comparing GAS with other fuels.

First of all, Gas Home Heating is completely automatic. No fire to build or look after. (Sleep thirty minutes longer every morning!) (Go up to bed when you're tired, not down to the basement to bank up the fire!) The only effort required is the weekly winding of a thermostat-clock placed conveniently in your living room. And of course, there's no ashes to lug away; no smoke, soot or dust. No cleaning or redecorating.

Then too, you pay for Gas after you burn it. No money tied up. Not even a fuel bin. A tidy basement instead, with a playroom or gym for winter recreation. Best of all, your home is never overheated or underheated—temperatures remain constant even on the coldest days. GAS costs more, naturally—but it's only a moderately additional cost, and with everything considered, is often cheaper. Let us give you an accurate estimate to prove it. No cost or obligation. Should we not realize that America's financial, inventive, productive and consuming assets today are far greater than they were during any of these 15 past depressions? Should we not realize that what was done on 15 past occasions with LESS assets can be done again with MORE assets? Should we not realize that the apprehensions of adversity are invariably succeeded by the joys of returning success?

Extremes are dangerous. Either is apt to be followed by its opposite. Both viewpoints are products of too much imagination and too much emotion. Extremes desert facts. Yet facts determine progress.

If people will once more seek the middle ground of fact, of imagination and of emotion, it will help this country. An era of high optimism unfits men to withstand adversity. And yet adversity builds strong men, and successful men.

In recent months, we have heard alibis, explanations, theories and whatnot. In speeches, articles, editorials. But is this what we need? When the captain is navigating his ship thru a storm, does he bemoan his fate or does he fight the storm? If the ball is on Yale's 5-yard line, does the Eli team bemoan its fate or does it bend to its task with the cheer, "Hold 'Em, Yale!" If a fighter is very tired as he enters the last round of the fight, does he dwell on this fact or does he redouble his energy—perhaps to secure a draw or the decision.

In short, what should be our viewpoint when business matters become temporarily less rosy? Should we not realize that America has come through 15 depressions in the past 50 years and has each time risen to greater heights than ever before? Should we not realize that America's financial, inventive, productive and consuming assets today are far greater than they were during any of these 15 past depressions? Amendments Will Reduce Costs To State

Waco, Texas, Oct. 20, 1930.—All of the proposed amendments to the State Constitution were explained and endorsed in a speech by Senator Edgar Witt, Lieutenant-Governor elect, in an address to the Waco Rotary Club last week.

Senator Witt said that the Supreme Court Amendment deserved passage because it provided for a continuous session of the court, and would thus prevent delays now possible in the consideration of urgent matters. The amendment allowing taxation of University land by the county in which they are situated also received his approval. The measure enlarging the field of investment for the University funds would enable the University to secure a higher rate of interest than is now possible. This amendment alone, he said, means many thousands of dollars a year more to the University.

The amendment dealing with the Legislature are of primary importance, Witt states. The present system is cumbersome, ineffective and expensive. The new procedure will make for efficiency, and will actually reduce the legislative expenditures. The address, in part, follows:

Five amendments to the Constitution are being submitted to the voters at the November 4th election.

One provides that the Supreme Court shall be in session throughout the year; under the present

Constitution the Supreme Court must be in session only nine months. The amendment will not prevent the judges, one at the time, to have a vacation period, but will require that the Court be open for business at all times. There should be no objection to this amendment on the part of anybody. It will add to the usefulness of the Court—will prevent delays that are now possible in the consideration of urgent matters.

Another amendment provides for the taxation for County purposes of lands belonging to the University of Texas. These lands are located in some seventeen west Texas counties; in some of the counties they form a large portion of the county values. The development of a county, the building of its roads and public buildings, etc., contribute to the enhanced value of all the lands in the county and it seems reasonable to require that the university lands should pay its portion of these taxes as they are enhanced in value by the expenditures. The State now pays county taxes on Prison Farms to the counties where located and there seems no just reason why the State should not do this to the counties where university lands are located and keep these lands from being a burden to the counties where located.

Another amendment enlarges the field for the investment of the permanent university funds. Under the existing law these funds can only be invested in State or national bonds. There are no state bonds on the market and therefore practically the entire endowment fund of the university today is invested in bonds of the United States upon which is being realized about three and three and one-fourth per cent interest. More than twelve million dollars of this fund is invested in bonds callable in 1933. In view of the fact that the Federal government can now sell bonds bearing a less rate of interest than three per cent, it will certainly call these bonds and the university fund will then have to be invested in bonds with a still lower rate of interest than those in which now invested. Unless this is permitted to be invested in other securities, great loss of interest will result. The amendment as stated enlarges the securities and makes possible investment in county, municipal and other safe securities which will bear a greater rate of interest than United States bonds. There should be no opposition to this amendment.

The remaining two amendments, the ones which I shall discuss more at length, are those dealing with the length of the regular sessions of the Legislature and with the compensation of its members. One of these amendments increases the length of the present sixty days regular session of the Legislature to 120 days and provides that the first thirty days of this session shall be given over to the introduction of bills, the second thirty days to the consideration of these bills by committees and the remainder of the session to the consideration by the Legislature in open session. It is provided, however, that this order of procedure can be changed as desired by a four-fifths vote of the members. Having served twelve years in the State Senate of Texas, I have had opportunity to appreciate the difficulties and handicaps under the present system, which requires not only the regular session of sixty days, but usually from two to five special sessions during each two years to attend to the state legislative business. An examination over the years shows that the Legislature has been in session an average of one hundred thirty-seven days during each two year period; this means a regular session of sixty days and two or three special sessions during each two year period. To have a continuous session of one hundred twenty days will provide for the Legislature many more actual working days and at less cost than will the present system of breaking up that period of time or a longer period into several sessions.

This will come about, because with one continuous session only one organization period is required, while under the present system with several sessions, from five to ten days are required at the beginning of each session for the organization of committees, introduction of bills, the referring of same to committees and the preliminary incident to "beginning" of each session. Under our present constitution there can not be a picking up of the work where it was left off at a previous session, but everything must be "begun over" again. This necessitates the re-introduction of bills, the re-consideration of committees, the re-printing of the bills and as indicated, at least from five to ten days of each session given over to preliminaries that will be avoided by a sufficiently lengthy continuous session to give attention to the matters that the experience of the past has shown to have required one hundred 37 days each two years to dispose of.

The history of the past showing that this much time is spent in legislative activity—with a growing state there can be no hope that the future will require less time, but if broken up into separate sessions and as much lost motion had as these require, our hope for the future would be that more time would be required than in the past by reason of the enlarged business of the state as time goes on. Therefore, for the sake of time to be spent and the expense of this time by legislators, a great saving of time and money will be had by a lengthening of the regular session and the avoiding of special sessions.

The other legislative amendment increases the compensation of legislators from five dollars a day to the magnificent sum of ten dollars per day and decreases the mileage now allowed members of twenty cents per mile in going and returning from the seat of government to ten cents per mile. This amendment has been represented as "doubling" the pay of legislators. It will have a very far different effect by reason of the "halving" of the mileage allowance and by reason of paying this mileage only once for a one hundred twenty day session, while under the present systems one hundred twenty days would involve three sessions and there would be paid mileage on each member from his home to the capitol, while under the amendment he would get this mileage for once and that would be ten cents. In other words, under the amendment a member for a session of one hundred twenty days would get a mileage allowance of just one-sixth the amount that he would get under the present constitution. When you realize that Texas is geographically an empire and that most of the members of the Legislature live hundreds of miles from the capitol, you will realize what an enormous amount this mileage allowance under the present constitution amounts to, and that when for one hundred and twenty days of legislative activity under the new amendment, the state of Texas would be out just one-sixth of the amount that it is out today, you will have an idea of the great reduction in mileage expense under this amendment.

I think all five of the amendments are meritorious and should be adopted by the people of Texas. If the National League pennant race gets any hotter some club will ask for a recount.

Whether Alice has profile views, front views, or no views taken, isn't important. But people have to realize, regardless of their own opinions concerning the social mix-up, that there isn't any other woman who can get the public interest, whether she wants it or not, in the way that Mrs. Longworth can.

Amendments Will Reduce Costs To State

Waco, Texas, Oct. 20, 1930.—All of the proposed amendments to the State Constitution were explained and endorsed in a speech by Senator Edgar Witt, Lieutenant-Governor elect, in an address to the Waco Rotary Club last week.

Senator Witt said that the Supreme Court Amendment deserved passage because it provided for a continuous session of the court, and would thus prevent delays now possible in the consideration of urgent matters. The amendment allowing taxation of University land by the county in which they are situated also received his approval. The measure enlarging the field of investment for the University funds would enable the University to secure a higher rate of interest than is now possible. This amendment alone, he said, means many thousands of dollars a year more to the University.

The amendment dealing with the Legislature are of primary importance, Witt states. The present system is cumbersome, ineffective and expensive. The new procedure will make for efficiency, and will actually reduce the legislative expenditures. The address, in part, follows:

Five amendments to the Constitution are being submitted to the voters at the November 4th election.

One provides that the Supreme Court shall be in session throughout the year; under the present

Constitution the Supreme Court must be in session only nine months. The amendment will not prevent the judges, one at a time, to have a vacation period, but will require that the Court be open for business at all times. There should be no objection to this amendment on the part of anybody. It will add to the usefulness of the Court—will prevent delays that are now possible in the consideration of urgent matters.

Another amendment provides for the taxation for County purposes of lands belonging to the University of Texas. These lands are located in some seventeen west Texas counties; in some of the counties they form a large portion of the county values. The development of a county, the building of its roads and public buildings, etc., contribute to the enhanced value of all the lands in the county and it seems reasonable to require that the university lands should pay its portion of these taxes as they are enhanced in value by the expenditures. The State now pays county taxes on Prison Farms to the counties where located and there seems no just reason why the State should not do this to the counties where university lands are located and keep these lands from being a burden to the counties where located.

Another amendment enlarges the field for the investment of the permanent university funds. Under the existing law these funds can only be invested in State or national bonds. There are no state bonds on the market and therefore practically the entire endowment fund of the university today is invested in bonds of the United States upon which is being realized about three and three and one-fourth per cent interest. More than twelve million dollars of this fund is invested in bonds callable in 1933. In view of the fact that the Federal government can now sell bonds bearing a less rate of interest than three per cent, it will certainly call these bonds and the university fund will then have to be invested in bonds with a still lower rate of interest than those in which now invested. Unless this is permitted to be invested in other securities, great loss of interest will result. The amendment as stated enlarges the securities and makes possible investment in county, municipal and other safe securities which will bear a greater rate of interest than United States bonds. There should be no opposition to this amendment.

The remaining two amendments, the ones which I shall discuss more at length, are those dealing with the length of the regular sessions of the Legislature and with the compensation of its members. One of these amendments increases the length of the present sixty days regular session of the Legislature to 120 days and provides that the first thirty days of this session shall be given over to the introduction of bills, the second thirty days to the consideration of these bills by committees and the remainder of the session to the consideration by the Legislature in open session. It is provided, however, that this order of procedure can be changed as desired by a four-fifths vote of the members. Having served twelve years in the State Senate of Texas, I have had opportunity to appreciate the difficulties and handicaps under the present system, which requires not only the regular session of sixty days, but usually from two to five special sessions during each two years to attend to the state legislative business. An examination over the years shows that the Legislature has been in session an average of one hundred thirty-seven days during each two year period; this means a regular session of sixty days and two or three special sessions during each two year period. To have a continuous session of one hundred twenty days will provide for the Legislature many more actual working days and at less cost than will the present system of breaking up that period of time or a longer period into several sessions.

This will come about, because with one continuous session only one organization period is required, while under the present system with several sessions, from five to ten days are required at the beginning of each session for the organization of committees, introduction of bills, the referring of same to committees and the other preliminaries incident to "beginning" of each session. Under our present constitution there can not be a picking up of the work where it was left off at a previous session, but everything must be "begun over" again. This necessitates the re-introduction of bills, the reconsideration of committees, the reprinting of the bills and as indicated, at least from five to ten days of each session given over to preliminaries that will be avoided by a sufficiently lengthy continuous session to give attention to the matters that the experience of the past has shown to have required one hundred thirty days each two years to dispose of.

The history of the past showing that this much time is spent in legislative activity—with a growing state there can be no hope that the future will require less time, but if broken up into separate sessions and as much lost motion had as these require, our hope for the future would be that more time would be required than in the past by reason of the enlarged business of the state as time goes on. Therefore, for the sake of time to be spent and the expense of this time by legislators, a great saving of time and money will be had by a lengthening of the regular session and the avoiding of special sessions.

The other legislative amendment increases the compensation of legislators from five dollars a day to the magnificent sum of ten dollars per day and decreases the mileage now allowed members of twenty cents per mile in going and returning from the seat of government to ten cents per mile. This amendment has been represented as "doubling" the pay of legislators. It will have a very far different effect by reason of the "halving" of the mileage allowance and by reason of paying this mileage only once for a one hundred twenty day session, while under the present systems one hundred twenty days would involve three sessions and there would be paid mileage on each member from his home to the capitol, while under the amendment he would get this mileage for once and that would be ten cents. In other words, under the amendment a member for a session of one hundred twenty days would get a mileage allowance of just one-sixth the amount that he would get under the present constitution. When you realize that Texas is geographically an empire and that most of the members of the Legislature live hundreds of miles from the capitol, you will realize what an enormous amount this mileage allowance under the present constitution amounts to, and that when for one hundred and twenty days of legislative activity under the new amendment, the state of Texas would be out just one-sixth of the amount that it is out today, you will have an idea of the great reduction in mileage expense under this amendment.

I think all five of the amendments are meritorious and should be adopted by the people of Texas.

If the National League pennant race gets any hotter some club will ask for a recount.

Whether Alice has profile views, front views, or no views taken, isn't important. But people have to realize, regardless of their own opinions concerning the social mix-up, that there isn't any other woman who can get the public interest, whether she wants it or not, in the way that Mrs. Longworth can.

ing $5.00 per day, and decreasing the mileage traveled by each member in going to and returning from the legislature from $5.00 for each 25 miles to $2.50 for each 25 miles. This amendment is the most scientific one every worked out to increase the efficiency of the legislature. It will give the law making body ample time to look after all of the state's business in the regular session, rather than causing the necessity of called sessions, five of which were called by Governor Moody during the 41st legislature. The fifth amendment has to do with a change in the constitution providing that the permanent university fund shall be invested in various kinds of Texas securities rather than limited to U.S. bonds, such as now the case. This will give the university building fund at least a half million dollars more money to erect buildings than it now has. The fund now has 17 millions of dollars, and is rapidly increasing as the oil fields are extended. It will not be many years until this fund will have from 75 to 100 millions of dollars, according to the opinion of oil men. This amendment is very urgent, as the university is now being deprived of a large amount of interest annually, because of the limited amount of money that is paid by the U. S. government on its bonds, and the greater rate which may be secured if this fund were invested in Texas securities. A sample of the official ballot will be found elsewhere in this issue of The News. Besides the candidates for the four political parties, a space remains for voters to add the names of any independent candidates for any office they desire.

Revival Services In Progress at New Christian Church

A series of protracted services started Wednesday night at the new Christian Church on Fifth Ave., leading up to the dedication of the new building on Sunday, November 9th. The meetings are under the direction of Dr. Arthur Long of Fort Worth, who will also dedicate the new church building. Dr. Long is the new State Secretary for the Texas Christian Churches. Prior to his coming to Texas, he was engaged in the general field of evangelism for six years. Dr. Long has spent much of his ministry in the pastorate. He was pastor of two of the largest Christian churches in Kansas for twelve years. There were 2200 additions to these two churches during his pastorate.

The music of the revival is in charge of Mr. H. A. Shaw of Amarillo. Mr. Shaw is a song leader of fine ability and long experience in the evangelistic field. He has charge of the music for the First Christian Church in Amarillo. He was associated recently with Mr. Long in a series of meetings at Lubbock. Mr. Shaw will appreciate the assistance of all singers in the church and in the city of Canyon.

Rev. A. K. Scott, church builder and preacher under the direction of the Texas Christian Missionary and the local Christian church, are justly proud of the new building and they cordially invite the people of the city and community to attend these special services. The services open each night at 7:30 o'clock.

Next Sunday will be the first Sunday in the new building. There will be a great Sunday School service at the regular hour, Dr. C. A. Pierle, superintendent, is expecting every one who has ever been in the Sunday School to be present, and he hopes for many new students for this opening service.

The Christian Endeavor and the church services will be in the nature of Life Dedicatory services.

Yearlings Fall Before Amarillo Junior Badgers

Playing before a small crowd of a few hundred fans Saturday night the Amarillo Junior College Badgers turned loose a fast passing game in the third quarter to win from the W. T. Yearlings by a 21-0 score.

The first half was fought to a standstill with neither team scoring. The Yearlings heavy line stripped the Badgers to shreds but were unable to push over with the needed punch to score when they threatened the Badgers goal twice in the first half.

On a pass in midfield Cox to Harrison the Badgers made their first touchdown. Shortly after the kick-off they marched to the one yard line to be held for downs. On the first play with the ball in their possession the Yearlings were brought down for a safety adding two more points to the Badger lead.

Within a few minutes another pass in midfield, Cox to Waggoner netted the Badgers another touchdown bringing the score to 15 after Cox failed to kick goal. These points were made in rapid succession and mostly accounted for by breaks in favor of the Badgers.

On a blocked punt in the fourth quarter, the Badgers gained possession of the ball and marched over for another touchdown. The game ended 21-0.

Poppy Sale to be Held by Members of Legion Auxiliary

"In Flanders Field the poppies blow between the crosses row on row." How strange it is that one small scarlet flower should symbolize in the minds of hundreds of thousands the great struggle which left the world crushed. And how odd it is that thousands who marched buoyantly to the front should now lie in hospital beds, "row on row," making replicas of these same poppies which when sold constitute their sole income.

For each poppy that these disabled soldiers make they receive one penny, and is the one thing that brings to them the realization that they are again able to take their places among the wage-earning citizens.

These are the people for whom the poppy sale is planned each year.

The Palo Duro unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will hold the poppy sale this year on Saturday, Nov. 8.

The poppies that will be sold are made for the Auxiliary by disabled veterans in the U. S. Veterans Hospital at Legion, Kerrville, Texas.

The red poppy has universally been accepted as the emblem of the World War, and the plea is made that it be considered not as a red tag to be bought and worn indefinitely, but as an emblem of sacrifice to be worn in reverent understanding.—Reporter.

Past Week Sees Big Shake-Up in TIAA Grid Race

The week ending October 25th saw a big shakeup in the T. I. A. A. pennant race. Two teams are tied for first place in the percentages, Denton and Sam Houston with one game won and no losses. West Texas Buffs, last week's leaders, dropped to third place, having dropped into the percentage by the tie last Thursday night with Daniel Baker.

This week end will probably shake up the contenders for the rag again and the prospects are still good for W. T. to top the heap at the end of the season. The biggest threat that the Buffs have at this time is McMurry who seems to have upset all predictions as to a football team, though the dopesters failed to take into consideration that the Indians believe in living up to tradition and most generally produce a fighting tribe of redskins.

Three conference games are scheduled for Friday: McMurry and San Marcos; Daniel Baker and Sul Ross; Denton and Stephen F. Austin.

ing $5.00 per day, and decreasing the mileage traveled by each member in going to and returning from the legislature from $5.00 for each 25 miles to $2.50 for each 25 miles. This amendment is the most scientific one every worked out to increase the efficiency of the legislature. It will give the law making body ample time to look after all of the state's business in the regular session, rather than causing the necessity of called sessions, five of which were called by Governor Moody during the 41st legislature. The fifth amendment has to do with a change in the constitution providing that the permanent university fund shall be invested in various kinds of Texas securities rather than limited to U.S. bonds, such as now the case. This will give the university building fund at least a half million dollars more money to erect buildings than it now has. The fund now has 17 millions of dollars, and is rapidly increasing as the oil fields are extended. It will not be many years until this fund will have from 75 to 100 millions of dollars, according to the opinion of oil men. This amendment is very urgent, as the university is now being deprived of a large amount of interest annually, because of the limited amount of money that is paid by the U. S. government on its bonds, and the greater rate which may be secured if this fund were invested in Texas securities. A sample of the official ballot will be found elsewhere in this issue of The News. Besides the candidates for the four political parties, a space remains for voters to add the names of any independent candidates for any office they desire.

Revival Services In Progress at New Christian Church

A series of protracted services started Wednesday night at the new Christian Church on Fifth Ave., leading up to the dedication of the new building on Sunday, November 9th. The meetings are under the direction of Dr. Arthur Long of Fort Worth, who will also dedicate the new church building. Dr. Long is the new State Secretary for the Texas Christian Churches. Prior to his coming to Texas, he was engaged in the general field of evangelism for six years. Dr. Long has spent much of his ministry in the pastorate. He was pastor of two of the largest Christian churches in Kansas for twelve years. There were 2200 additions to these two churches during his pastorate.

The music of the revival is in charge of Mr. H. A. Shaw of Amarillo. Mr. Shaw is a song leader of fine ability and long experience in the evangelistic field. He has charge of the music for the First Christian Church in Amarillo. He was associated recently with Mr. Long in a series of meetings at Lubbock. Mr. Shaw will appreciate the assistance of all singers in the church and in the city of Canyon.

Rev. A. K. Scott, church builder and preacher under the direction of the Texas Christian Missionary and the local Christian church, are justly proud of the new building and they cordially invite the people of the city and community to attend these special services. The services open each night at 7:30 o'clock.

Next Sunday will be the first Sunday in the new building. There will be a great Sunday School service at the regular hour, Dr. C. A. Pierle, superintendent, is expecting every one who has ever been in the Sunday School to be present, and he hopes for many new students for this opening service.

The Christian Endeavor and the church services will be in the nature of Life Dedication services.

Yearlings Fall Before Amarillo Junior Badgers

Playing before a small crowd of a few hundred fans Saturday night the Amarillo Junior College Badgers turned loose a fast passing game in the third quarter to win from the W. T. Yearlings by a 21-0 score.

The first half was fought to a standstill with neither team scoring. The Yearlings heavy line stripped the Badgers to shreds but were unable to push over with the needed punch to score when they threatened the Badgers goal twice in the first half.

On a pass in midfield Cox to Harrison the Badgers made their first touchdown. Shortly after the kick-off they marched to the one yard line to be held for downs. On the first play with the ball in their possession the Yearlings were brought down for a safety adding two more points to the Badger lead.

Within a few minutes another pass in midfield, Cox to Waggoner netted the Badgers another touchdown bringing the score to 15 after Cox failed to kick goal. These points were made in rapid succession and mostly accounted for by breaks in favor of the Badgers.

On a blocked punt in the fourth quarter, the Badgers gained possession of the ball and marched over for another touchdown. The game ended 21-0.

Poppy Sale to be Held by Members of Legion Auxiliary

"In Flanders Field the poppies blow between the crosses row on row." How strange it is that one small scarlet flower should symbolize in the minds of hundreds of thousands the great struggle which left the world crushed. And how odd it is that thousands who marched buoyantly to the front should now lie in hospital beds, "row on row" making replicas of these same poppies which when sold constitute their sole income.

For each poppy that these disabled soldiers make they receive one penny, and is the one thing that brings to them the realization that they are again able to take their places among the wage-earning citizens.

These are the people for whom the poppy sale is planned each year.

The Palo Duro unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will hold the poppy sale this year on Saturday, Nov. 8.

The poppies that will be sold are made for the Auxiliary by disabled veterans in the U. S. Veterans Hospital at Legion, Kerrville, Texas.

The red poppy has universally been accepted as the emblem of the World War, and the plea is made that it be considered not as a red tag to be bought and worn indefinitely, but as an emblem of sacrifice to be worn in reverent understanding.—Reporter.

Past Week Sees Big Shake-Up in TIAA Grid Race

The week ending October 25th saw a big shakeup in the T. I. A. A. pennant race. Two teams are tied for first place in the percentages, Denton and Sam Houston with one game won and no losses. West Texas Buffs, last week's leaders, dropped to third place, having dropped into the percentage by the tie last Thursday night with Daniel Baker.

This week end will probably shake up the contenders for the rag again and the prospects are still good for W. T. to top the heap at the end of the season. The biggest threat that the Buffs have at this time is McMurry who seems to have upset all predictions as to a football team, though the dopests failed to take into consideration that the Indians believe in living up to tradition and most generally produce a fighting tribe of redskins.

Three conference games are scheduled for Friday: McMurry and Sam Marcos; Daniel Baker and Sul Ross; Denton and Stephen F. Austin.
